

Senate Delays Action On Proposal To Call Gen. Eisenhower Home

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee today put off a decision on whether to ask Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to fly home and testify on the $7,900,000,000 foreign aid bill.

After an hour's committee discussion behind closed doors, Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) announced it had been decided to delay action on a motion by Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) to request testimony from Eisenhower.

Some Eisenhower supporters have been urging the general to return to the United States to speak out on current issues.

Party lines are split on the issue, with McMahon, a Truman administration supporter, leading the move to get Eisenhower back.

Few Speeches Wanted

Gen. Lucius D. Clay said in Paris over the weekend Eisenhower would come home to testify if Congress really needs him, no matter what it might mean to his political future.

The general's supporters want him to return and campaign—and some are saying privately he'll be back in time to make a few speeches before the July convention—but few want him home on a purely non-political visit.

They feel that a return merely to testify before Congress could embarrass him, hurt his chances. On the other hand, if he testified and then made talks explaining his views on foreign and domestic policies, it could help.

President Truman was still silent on whether he will seek re-

Reds Accuse Allies Of Aerial Attack On Korea Prison Camp

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

MUNSA, Korea — (AP) — Communist truce negotiators today accused the U. N. Command of carrying out another "criminal" aerial attack on a prisoner of war camp in North Korea.

The Reds said a British soldier was wounded when an Allied plane strafed a camp near Changsong before dawn Sunday.

A second group of negotiators working on truce supervision began the thorny job of picking five ports of entry for troops and material on each side of the battle line following Communist acceptance of the U. N. "package deal" Sunday.

Chinese Col. Tsai Cheng-Wen said the Allied plane opened fire on the Changsong prisoner camp despite "conspicuous markings" on the tents. He admitted under

Politician Shot In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Former Republican city chairman William F. Meade was wounded yesterday in a mystery shooting that brought conflicting statements from Meade and his old political opponent, District Attorney Richardson Dilworth.

Meade said he suffered cuts of the ear lobe, neck and a finger when an unidentified assailant fired three shots through a window of a south Philadelphia hotel.

Dilworth issued a statement that the 47-year-old Meade was shot by an attractive blonde girl in the lobby of the Hotel Minerva. The district attorney identified the girl as Miss Virginia Carroll, 33, a former doorman clerk in the DA's office. She works in the jury commissioner's office, Dilworth said, adding, "I haven't the slightest idea where she is now."

Confronted with Meade's version of the incident, Dilworth refused to back down from his original report of the shooting. Asked if he was still standing by his statement that Meade was shot by Virginia Carroll, the DA said: "There is no question that that is what happened. The question is to prove it."

Fire Loss Heavy

DETROIT — (AP) — Damage estimated close to $150,000 resulted from a spectacular fire in the wholesale district near the Detroit river here Sunday night. A five-story building owned by the Jack Gell Co. caught fire and curtains, draperies and linens stored on upper floors went up in smoke. An adjoining building was damaged by smoke and water.

POLICE CHIEF JAILED — Ray Sturgis (above), 45, who had been operating as police chief of New Haven, Mich., under the name of Russell E. McIntyre, was arrested by the FBI who said he had been reported to them as a 1944 Army deserter. His arrest came after he attempted to help the FBI find a man they are looking for. It turned out to be Sturgis they were seeking. (AP Wirephoto)

Fair Manager Friel To Quit In Bribe Mixup

DETROIT — (AP) — Files of records on the Michigan State Fair were torn apart last night in the office of James D. Friel, general manager accused of misconduct in office.

An unknown intruder left many articles of value in the office, but scattered important records. Police could not determine immediately exactly what was missing.

Grand Jury Reconvenes — "This obviously was the work of someone looking for something in the fair records," said Circuit Judge Chester P. O'Hara, the one-man grand jury who said last week his probe gave "reason to believe" that Friel had accepted bribes while managing the fair.

The ransacking of Friel's office, Judge O'Hara added, "indicates there is more out there than we thought or have found."

He said the grand jury would reconvene and go further into the case.

Friel said yesterday he would resign and answer the judge's accusations.

Woman Linked To Big Robbery

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. — (AP) — A 36-year-old brunette was held in jail here today as the possible finger woman of the $1,500,000 Redfield burglary in Reno.

FBI agents said she was arrested with $50,000 of the stolen cash, 28 pieces of jewelry which might have come from La Verne Redfield's safe and a large package of securities. The jewelry and securities were being checked to see if they belonged to the eccentric Reno stockbroker.

The woman is Mrs. Marie Jeanne D'Arc Machaud, who had been Redfield's guest so frequently he was "shocked and greatly upset" by her arrest. "Why, I trusted her implicitly," he said.

The blue-eyed French-Canadian writer-artist is the sixth person arrested in connection with the Feb. 29 burglary. Four are men, two women.

Mrs. Machaud was arrested yesterday on the California Limited enroute to Chicago. She was arraigned on charges of conspiring to transport stolen goods across state lines. Bail was set at $100,000.

The $50,000 which FBI agents said she carried was the biggest piece of loot yet reported recovered. Arresting agents made no estimate of the value of securities or jewelry she carried.

Redfield reported $300,000 cash, some $250,000 in jewelry and $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 in securities was stolen in his safe.

Almost simultaneously with her arrest agents hoisted the safe from a well concealed mine shaft in a desolate country near Reno. It was smashed and empty.

New Haven Chief Arrested; Widow Pledges Her Love

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. — (AP) — A widowed mother of four children pledged undying love and aid today to accused Army Deserter Ray Sturgis, until a few days ago a village police chief.

Meanwhile, Sturgis' wife, Helen, went into seclusion, pondering his request for a divorce.

She also had pledged to stand by him.

Sturgis, held here in the Fort Custer prisoners stockade, is the former New Haven village police chief whom the FBI claims to have unmasked as a 1944 wartime Army deserter.

As chief of police, he was known as Russell McIntyre. In New Haven he was highly respected. Townspeople have come to his aid.

In New Haven romance had taken place.

Blond Mrs. Stella Seter, who says she loves Sturgis, visited him Sunday at the Fort provost marshal's office.

FORD UNION OFFICERS FACE OUSTER

A six-member administrative board of the CIO United Auto Workers was instructed to take over today in Ford Local 600 as a result of testimony claiming that the big Detroit Ford union was dominated by Communists. Officers of the local who face an ouster, are: (left to right): William G. Grant, financial secretary; William R. Hood, recording secretary; Pat Rice, vice president, and Carl Stellato, president. The Union's International, acting on the heels of the House Un-American Activities Committee inquiry in Detroit, accused local 600 officers of failing to enforce union restrictions against Communism. Hood and Rice were unwilling witnesses before the investigating Congressmen. Both refused to answer any questions regarding Communism. (AP Photo)

Dublin Parades For St. Patrick

DUBLIN, Ireland — (AP) — All over Ireland the celebrations honoring St. Patrick started early today.

Thousands of shamrock wearers in their holiday best trooped into the capital here from nearby villages and farms, seeking the best places to watch the two-mile parade down famed O'Connell street.

The parade here was the island's longest, loudest—there were half a dozen bands—and greenest. On a smaller scale, there were celebrations in every other town and village.

President Sean T. O'Kelly and members of the government led by Prime Minister Eamon De Valera, headed Dublin's colorful procession, which also featured a display of Irish manufacturers.

The march was to end at the city's cathedral, where Archbishop John McQuaid was to sing a mass honoring the Saint who brought Christianity to Ireland almost 1,700 years ago.

Football and other sporting events were planned this afternoon and scores of dinners and dances were on the schedule for tonight.

Accidents Fatal To 9 In Michigan; Two Are Drowned

(By The Associated Press)

Two drownings and a fire death were among nine violent fatalities in Michigan over the weekend.

One of the drowning victims was a Selfridge Field air base staff sergeant, the other a kite-flying boy who fell through pond ice.

Sgt. Harold C. Watts, 27, of Buena Vista, Va., drowned Sunday when his car plunged into the Clinton River near the base after apparently missing a sharp curve.

The car plunged into 15 feet of water. Sgt. Watts' body was recovered several hours later.

The administrative group went to Local 600's headquarters in suburban Dearborn.

Officials Removed — As a number of Local 600 members looked on, the group entered the building and went into conference in the office of Carl Stellato, president.

Stellato and three co-officials of the local had been removed by the UAW International executive board on charges that they failed to keep Communist influences out of the local's management.

Only yesterday the International fired five minor officials of the local.

After the action against the top officers, one of the latter, William R. Hood, recording secretary, said he would not "physically give up my office." Hood said he would refuse to "abjectly surrender without counsel with my membership."

Plane Hostess Admits Killing

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — An attractive, 20-year-old air line stewardess told police she fatally shot a company official during a quarrel yesterday after he accused her of dating other men.

Lawrence E. Keil, 43, married and father of two children, was found in a parked automobile, wounded six times. He died a short time later.

Police Chief Browne Hairgrove of suburban Overland said the Ozark Air Lines stewardess, Betty Lou Tracy, signed a statement admitting she shot Keil with his own gun.

"I fired the gun until it would not fire any more," the chief quoted the petite, green-eyed brown-haired girl as saying.

The chief said she gave the following version:

She returned from a flight to Rockford, Ill., and was met by Keil at the airport. After a meal they parked across the street from her apartment.

He repeatedly asked her if she had associated with other men, then announced: "I am going to kill you."

He asked her to get his gun, which she had taken from him during a previous visit, from her apartment.

She got it, returned to the car, and fired as both stepped into the vehicle through opposite doors.

Federal Wage Board Tries To Prevent Tieup

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The steel labor dispute headed today into a week of crisis with the industry planning to start shutting down Tuesday in anticipation of a strike at midnight Sunday.

Some loss of steel, sorely needed by both defense and civilian industry, seemed inevitable because the steel makers wanted to be sure their blast furnaces were emptied of hot metal in advance of any stoppage.

Decision Thursday — Philip Murray, head of both the CIO and the strike-threatening Steelworkers Union, withheld action until Thursday on a request by the Wage Stabilization Board for a new strike postponement.

Murray already has put off strike plans three times since Jan. 1. Government officials said they believed he will do so again.

Thursday is the same day the WSB has fixed as its target date for getting out recommendations for settling the complex dispute—involving Murray's demands for an 18½ cent hourly pay boost and a score of other items. The Steelworkers presently earn a little under $2 an hour.

No Formal Call — Murray told the WSB yesterday that the decision on whether to strike or not will be up to the union's 200-man policy committee, which has been called into session here Thursday. Murray pledged that the union will give the new strike-delay plea "serious consideration."

The union probably will have had a peek at the WSB's findings before it makes up its mind. As things stand now, Murray is empowered to call a walkout at any time after midnight Sunday. The

Rare Tea Party Given By Nizam

NEW DELHI, India — (AP) — The fabulous old Nizam of Hyderabad—said to be the world's richest man—was host yesterday at a rare tea party for this capital's elite.

The Nizam, here for a council of India's princes, had ventured from his home state for the first time in 16 years. On the elegant lawns of his 100-room Delhi palace, he entertained 400 guests, including Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and the Indian president and prime minister.

The Nizam wore pajamas of cheap cotton, a long grey coat and modest yellow duster. He sat smoking a cigarette through most of the party but bounced up now and then to greet a favorite Maharajah.

Fifteen of his 70 wives had come to Delhi in chartered planes, but they never appeared at the tea party. They watched through a cloth screen fencing off the palace veranda at the far end of the garden.

As an orchestra played classical music, 55 members of the palace guard, in brilliant yellow and purple dusters and turbans, mingled with the crowd.

Munising Man Named In Rifle Murder Of Reed City Farmer

REED CITY, Mich. — (AP) — Prosecutor Joseph Lynch has issued a murder warrant against Lou Albert Schultz, 32, of Munising, in the slaying of John S. Kaufield, 66, at his Richmond township home.

The Osceola county farmer's body was found Saturday. He had been shot with a .22 calibre rifle. State police said they were told Schultz, an ex-convict, and Kaufield had been seen together Wednesday. Schultz had been working on an adjoining farm.

Schultz was sentenced to Marquette prison in 1947 to one to five years for larceny by conversion. He was released last August.

Rehearsal Parties Prove School Music Can Be Fun

Music parties combining rehearsal and a party lunch are a Saturday night feature at the home of Mrs. Clara Karas Somers, instrumental music instructor in Escanaba public schools.

The parties prove to the young musicians that music can be fun even at that early stage of their musical development. Mothers of the music students cooperate by volunteering to serve party lunches and treats after the rehearsal.

The practice sessions last at least one hour—may go longer when the pupils are taught up in the enthusiasm of satisfactorily working out their performance of a particular number.

The Saturday night music parties have been held a number of times in the past year. The age groups at the parties vary from those in the grades to Junior High students.

Escanaba Kiwanis Club 30 Years Old

Sunday marked the 30th anniversary of the Escanaba Kiwanis Club, launched March 16, 1922, and club president Rudolph Erickson announced that a ladies night program would be held in the near future to celebrate this anniversary event.

When the Escanaba club was organized back in 1922, Kiwanis International itself had been in existence only six years and had but 48,000 members. The membership has increased to 206,821 in some 3,400 clubs throughout the United States, Canada, Alaska and Hawaii.

Congratulations From Chicago

In recognition of the 30-year span of service given to the community, the Escanaba Kiwanis club and president Erickson received the following letter from O. E. (Pete) Peterson, secretary at the Kiwanis International office in Chicago:

"Please accept our heartiest congratulations on the 30th anniversary of the Escanaba club. When on March 16, 1922, the Kiwanis club of Escanaba was completed, I am sure that none of the members visualized that in 30 years our organization would grow from a small group to 205,821 members in 3,394 clubs.

"I want to take this opportunity to express our appreciation of the outstanding service rendered by Clarence Zerbel, who has been secretary of your club for over 18 years. The secretary of a club holds an office which requires much extra time and effort in the performance of his duties, and Clarence's unusual record in this capacity reflects his loyalty and devotion to Kiwanis ideals and principles.

Activities Commended

"It can be truly said that the Kiwanis club of Escanaba is a Service Club. The activities of your club have been eminently worthwhile. In public affairs, as-

He also worked as a logging contractor and operated a Chatham sawmill, which was destroyed by fire several years ago.

Surviving are his wife, Opal; two sons, Lawrence and Ronald, Chatham; three daughters, Mrs. Richard Lancour, Trenary, Mrs. John Norlin, Chatham, and Mrs. Gordon Reynolds, Detroit; two brothers, Frank and Robert, Trenary; three sisters, Mrs. Josephine Vikon and Mrs. Edmond Ouellette, Trenary, and Mrs. Elizabeth Laytonen, Phoenix, Ariz.; and eight grandchildren.

The body was taken to the Beaulieu Funeral Home in Munising, where friends may call after 7 this evening. At 12:30 Wednesday the body will be moved to the Trenary Methodist Church, where funeral services will be held at 2 Wednesday afternoon with the Rev. John Hamel of Marquette officiating. Burial will be in the Trenary cemetery.

DR. CLYDE VROMAN

U-M Alumni To Hear Vroman

Clyde Vroman, director of admissions at the University of Michigan, will be the featured speaker at the annual Birthday Dinner of the Delta county U-M Alumni Association tomorrow at 6:30 p. m. at the Delta Hotel.

President George Perrin announced that the after dinner program will also include piano selections by Irma Paul, Escanaba High School student who received the club's scholarship to the National Music Camp at Interlochen last year, and a film of the 1951 Rose Bowl trip of the Marching Band.

Toastmaster will be Atty. Harlan Yelland of Escanaba. The dinner commemorates the anniversary of the founding of the University in 1817.

Professor of Music

Until he became director of admissions at the University, Vroman, an associate professor of music education, was in charge of the U-M program at the Interlochen music camp. Much of his time was devoted to outstate services through the All-State Orchestra, Chorus and Band; Michigan School Band and Orchestral Association, Michigan Schol Vocal Association, Michigan Music Teachers Association and the Michigan Camping Association.

Through the University Extension Service, he makes lecture trips to schools and community groups in and out of the state.

Joined Faculty In 1936

He first joined the faculty of the University of Michigan in 1936 as a teacher of instrumental music in University High School. Vroman holds a Bachelor and Master of Music degree and the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in secondary education, all from the University of Michigan.

He was engaged to speak here by the dinner program committee of Charles Folio, Atty. John Root, Escanaba, and Dr. George Kelly of Gladstone.

KEENER HEARING

During World War I, blind men were used to man microphones set up to detect German air-raiding parties, since their sense of hearing was much keener than that of men who could see.

Red Cross Solicitors Start Calls Wednesday

House-to-house solicitation in Escanaba for the American Red Cross will begin Wednesday following a kick-off breakfast at the Sherman hotel.

The names of 28 Escanaba women, all volunteers for the solicitation drive, were announced today by Leishman.

The chairman also appealed for generous contributions from the public when the workers call at Escanaba homes this week. The fund goal for Delta county this year is $16,000 and every effort will be necessary to make the drive a success.

Coordinators of the canvass are Mrs. John Fawcett and Mrs. E. H. Niederauer.

Phoenix Office Looted Of $330

GLADSTONE—Authorities today continued investigation of the Saturday night breaking and entering of Phoenix Lumber and Supply Company's branch office at 1122 Delta Ave. and the theft of an estimated $330 in currency.

The loss was discovered at 3 p. m. Sunday by Mrs. Janie DuRoy, office clerk, who stopped at the office to check the fire.

She immediately notified Albin Nelson, branch manager. Earl Frechette, president of Phoenix Lumber and Supply Company, was scheduled to come to Gladstone today from Iron Mountain.

The thieves entered the office by forcing a door, one of three in storage rooms and other rooms forced open during the breaking and entering.

The safe in the office was open and no money was in it, practice established after a series of burglaries in the area last winter. The thieves opened desk drawers and pried open a filing cabinet where they located about $330 in currency.

State Police, Gladstone city police, and Capt. Jack Finn of the Escanaba police department are cooperating in the investigation. Some fingerprints were obtained. Officers said they believe there was more than one person engaged in the burglary.

State's Financial Pinch Brings Need For Revising Constitution

THE government of the great state of Michigan, arsenal of democracy and the world's motor kingdom, is broke.

That Michigan is headed for financial collapse has been evident for some time. What is happening today has been forecast for years. That it did not happen sooner is simply because the inflationary spiral of recent years has enabled a steady increase in sales tax receipts.

Disbursements by the state to schools, cities and townships under the sales tax diversion amendment are predicated upon the previous year's tax take but are actually paid from current year's receipts. Because sales tax receipts have been accelerating, the state has been able to postpone the day of financial reckoning. But increased state operating costs have hurried the day of crisis.

When sales tax receipts begin to decline or even remain steady, the state's financial situation, already serious, will become chaotic. Then the state will be required under the constitutional amendment to pay out to schools, cities and townships an even greater percentage of the current year's tax receipts than is now being paid. This is true because the payoff will be predicated upon the swollen receipts of the previous year rather than the reduced receipts of the current year—but the payoff funds will come from current receipts.

Settlement of this problem cannot be long postponed. The courses of action for solution of the financial crisis are limited. One is an extremely sharp cutback in state expenses to tailor state spending to probable receipts. Undoubtedly there is room for considerable savings in the state budget but it is doubtful that operating costs can be slashed deeply enough for a long enough period of time to keep within available receipts. Plenty of water can be squeezed out, that is certain, but the crushing weight of the tax diversion amendment at a time of falling receipts will be too burdensome to expect economy alone to solve the problem.

Another possible solution is to enact new sources of tax revenue. In view of the extremely heavy tax burden that the people are now paying at local, state and federal levels—especially federal—this can not be a happy solution nor a practical one.

The only other solution is a general revision of the state constitution to remove some of the obstacles to efficient, equitable distribution of available revenues.

Fast Hockey Gets Firm Hold In Escanaba

THE hockey season recently concluded was the most successful in Escanaba in the sport's history here. The Hawks produced a fine team in a fast league and the fans showed their appreciation by their good attendance and enthusiastic support of the team.

A large number of people contributed to the successful hockey season in Escanaba. They include Coach Marc Olson, the players, the Hawks' board of directors and, of course, the loyal fans. Last year was Escanaba's first season in the fast Northern Wisconsin Michigan league. The Hawks did surprisingly well in the league and they built an army of supporters. The financial going was a little rough for the new Escanaba club but they stuck it out and paid off their debts with the help of local business leaders.

This last season, the second in the league, was a success from every standpoint. More fans were attracted to the league games. The Hawks were in the running all of the way and the club finished its schedule in good financial condition.

No longer is there any question of local support for fast hockey. The major handicap, of course, is the small rink in Escanaba. The local players do not like a small rink and, of course, the other teams in the league dread it. It is impossible to play the best brand of hockey of which the players are capable on a crackerbox rink.

The objective is to lengthen the rink at the state fairgrounds by 60 feet which would make the local rink more suitable for fast hockey.

This improvement would not only be beneficial for hockey in Escanaba but it would likewise be beneficial to the Upper Peninsula State Fair. Additional space for fair exhibits is needed to meet the growth of the fair. Also a longer exhibition building at the state fairgrounds would be extremely beneficial in other ways to Escanaba. It would make possible an indoor facility for conventions and for other community activities.

The Doctor Says . . . Emotions Are Major Factor In Treating Ulcerative Colitis

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

Ulcerative colitis is fortunately a comparatively rare condition, but one about which several readers have asked me to write. It is a disease involving the lower part of the digestive tract known as the large intestine.

Actually, it is probably not correct to speak of it as a single disease since there are several varieties which behave somewhat differently and which may require different kinds of treatment. In practically all kinds, however, quick healing and recovery is rare so that long-term treatment, under a physician's care, is required.

The cause or causes of ulcerative colitis are still not entirely understood. Infection may play a part, but there is no agreement on any one germ, and some difference of opinion on the importance of infection in the general picture.

Among other possible causes which have been investigated is the emotional factor. Here, too, there is doubt as to whether this is an original cause, but almost certainly after ulcerative colitis has begun, emotional stress or strain can and does aggravate the symptoms which are already present.

A more complete understanding, however, of what causes ulcerative colitis to develop in the first place and what prevents its more rapid healing is badly needed.

When a patient is found to have ulcerative colitis, the usual procedure is to try medical treatment first. It has been stated that in one form of the disease, not more than five or ten out of one hundred will need surgery. In other forms, surgery should not be delayed too long, if medical treatment does not bring good results fairly promptly.

The medical treatment includes rest, diet, nursing care, blood transfusions, and in some cases it may require the administration of drugs or hormones.

TREATMENT VARIES

The exact methods to use, of course, depend on the individual circumstances, but blood transfusions may be particularly mentioned here since patients with ulcerative colitis usually lose a good deal of blood, and may need several transfusions during acute stages of the disease.

Drug treatment in many cases includes one or more of the sulfa drugs, penicillin or aureomycin, and in some cases ACTH or cortisone. None of these is always curative, but they have proved of help in some cases.

Those people with ulcerative colitis who do not respond well to medical treatment may require surgery. The nature of the surgery depends on the location of the ulcerations in the large intestine, the age and physical condition of the patient, and many other factors. However, even in this severe disease, the careful use of such medical or surgical measures as seems indicated, brings improvement to most of those unfortunate who have become sufferers from ulcerative colitis.

Merry-Go-Round

(Editor's Note—Just as Drew Pearson was ahead of every other newspaperman in exposing income tax scandals, he is now the first to expose and diagnose the lagging mobilization program and the inefficiency of certain weapons. His columns on why the Navy lacks jet fighters capable of opposing the Russian MIG's, and why the mobilization program is sagging, had Washington seething last week. Here is another column in the series.)

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — President Truman is now faced with one of the most uncomfortable decisions of his White House career. Within the next few weeks, he must either read the riot act to his good friend, Defense Mobilizer Charlie Wilson—which might cause Wilson to resign—or he can sit by and watch the mobilization program continue in the doldrums.

If he does the latter, it means not only endangering the defense of the nation externally, but endangering the nation's economy internally.

For American industry, now pitched to operate in high gear, is finding fewer military orders than expected, and weak spots in the economy have begun to drop out. Already the aluminum shortage has turned to an aluminum surplus, while Belgium and Luxembourg steel, imported at high prices, is lying on the docks rusting for lack of buyers.

Charles E. Wilson, the man in charge of mobilization, is a patriotic, sometimes irritable, Irishman who worked his way up from the bottom to be head of General Electric, got to know Truman during the days of the old Truman committee, and came to Washington at considerable sacrifice to help his country.

MILITARY INEFFICIENCY

However, there have been three big reasons for the mobilization failure:

Reason No. 1 is primarily Wilson's own. He has permitted the military to handle procurement instead of running things himself.

Reason No. 2 stems from the first: Consistently inefficient military procurement. When military officers, trained chiefly to fight, are placed in charge of civilian production, they nearly always bungles.

Reason No. 3 is gross underestimation of the nation's productive capacity. Wilson and his advisers just did not have faith in what the nation could produce under pressure.

Result of all this is that whereas, during the war, the United States was producing 94,000 airplanes a year, today it's doubtful that we can reach a goal of 15,000 planes a year by three years after Korea.

Another result is that we are woefully behind Russia in airplane production, both in type of planes and quantities. If it were not for the courage and training of American pilots, we would be out of luck in the air war over Korea.

Further result is that we have fallen far below our promises to Europe for war material. Originally we proposed supplying the materiel, Europe the manpower. But when we fell down on materiel, naturally Europe holds back on manpower. "What is the use," they argue, "of putting men in uniform when they lack modern weapons with which to fight?"

LOWERED GOALS

Just a little over a year ago, January 1951, military and civilian chiefs both agreed to shoot for a goal of 1,850 planes per month and that this goal was to be attained by September 1953. This was not an unreasonable goal. Actually it represented, in weight, less than the nation's rate of production at the time of Pearl Harbor.

But one year later, January 1952, both Wilson and Secretary of Defense Lovett agreed that even this modest goal was unattainable. To produce 1,850 planes a month—22,200 a year—they admitted was going to be difficult.

So they convinced President Truman that the airplane goal, as of September 1953, should be reduced to 1,250 "per month."

Today we're producing planes at the rate of 675 per month, which compares, in weight, to about half of what we produced at the time of Pearl Harbor.

Blame for these delays is not due either to the desire of the Joint Chiefs of Staff or lack of ability by American industry.

The job of the Joint Chiefs is to advise the President what strength is needed to defend the nation, and they have consistently set their sights high. But between the Joint Chiefs, who do the planning, and the American factories, which do the manufacturing, there is a maze of offices generally lumped under the heading of "procurement."

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Washington, D. C.—The Army reported that United States troops and aviation were in Australia "in considerable numbers"—an apparent answer to the frantic calls of that country for aid against an expected invasion attempt by the southward surging Japanese.

Chicago—A devastating series of tornado winds sweeping through six southern and midwestern states killed 118 persons, injured approximately 700 and destroyed thousands of dollars in property.

Escanaba—Five candidates were competing for two positions on the city council—Harold (Pat) Hayes, Peter N. Logan, Albin S. Pearson, Carl Richter and Henry Wylie.

Manistique—Mrs. Adam Houghton and son, Glen, returned from a visit in Detroit.

20 YEARS AGO

Jersey City, N. J.—A lead in the two-week-old Lindbergh kidnapping case, described as "important enough to be taken seriously," was being tracked down by detectives as they investigated the story of an old plot to steal the flier's son.

Escanaba—One of Delta county's best known officers, Undersheriff Joseph P. Carney, 49, who served the community officially for 19 years, passed away at St. Francis Hospital after fighting a losing battle with an attack of influenza complicated by pneumonia and pleurisy.

Manistique—Fire completely demolished the Genesee postoffice with an estimated loss of $1,000 on the building.

The Triumph of Brains Over Brawn

Empty Farm Cribs Reveal Story Of Missing U. S.-Pledged Grain

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL

Last spring, Farmer X, somewhere in the great Midwestern grain belt, obtained a Commodity Credit Corp. loan for $287.60. As security, he was permitted to store corn on the farm he occupied as a tenant. On August 24 he sold that corn to a local feed store—though still owing $100.04 on the loan. He got into his 1933 Ford, drove off, and hasn't been seen since.

On January 4, 1950, Farmer Y obtained a $1,400 C.C.C. loan on his 1949 corn crop, storing the grain in his own barnyard crib as security. He promised to repay the note in the of 1950, after the new harvest came in. But wet weather ruined his 1950 plantings, so Mr. Y was left with a balance of $633.50 he couldn't pay.

How about the 1949 crop supposed to be in storage? A checkup revealed that it had been sold. Officials of the Agricultural Department, left holding the bag, kept dunning him; he promised he would certainly settle the obligation by November 15, 1951, after this next harvest. This he failed to do; the American taxpayer is still out $633.50. But to this day no criminal or civil charges have been entered against him by the Government's lawyers.

On July 14, 1951, Tenant Farmer Z was granted a C.C.C. loan for $1,519.98, and he likewise was permitted to back his borrowing with corn stored on the farm. Sometime between July and December—Agriculture Department officials aren't sure when—he sold this collateral. Nothing has been paid on the loan, and the case has not been taken to court.

Random Selection

These are cases pulled at random from the files of the Chicago regional office of the Agriculture Department, which covers Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Kentucky and Ohio. Casper Murphy, assistant solicitor, says: "We have 39 grain conversion cases involving farmers pending in this region. Some of them were referred to us in the last few days while others have been pending for over a year. The amounts involved range from $34 to $2,000—indications are the average is between $600 and $700."

Yet in this six-state area not a single prosecution is pending in any such vanishing grain case. As to how many cases have been handed to the Department of Justice for possible prosecution, Mr. Murphy says: "You'd have to check with 17 or 18 Justice Department offices in this area to get that figure, for we don't have any record of them."

Are the 39 cases in Mr. Murphy's files the only instances in which C.C.C. grain has disappeared from the area's farms? By no means. The department's officials make no attempt to do the initial policing of the 130,000 farmers around the nation who have contracts to store grain under the federal price-proping system. The job is left to committees of farmers—one committee per county. These certify the storage facilities, seal the grain, do whatever inspection occurs while it is under seal.

Officials say only the "most flagrant" difficulties are referred to the state offices of the production and Marketing Administration, the Agriculture Department agency which does most of the administering of C.C.C. programs. And these offices do further weed-out before cases are referred to regional solicitors.

"We Haven't Any Record"

George Bradley, regional C.C.C. head in Chicago, declares: "We haven't any record of the number of conversion cases involving farm-stored grain. To make one would mean going through the records of every state and county P.M.A. office. As a rough estimate it would take 20 people a week to assemble that information."

To get complete information about even one case takes months, actually. Consider the case of Farmer Y. Though it has been more than a year since this corn producer defaulted on his C.C.C. loan, the solicitor's office says it is still trying to get detailed information about the dates of sale of the grain supposed to be held as collateral, the number of bushels, the buyers, and witnesses. This is done by correspondence.

MR. BRANNAN: Silence protects the innocent.

between Chicago officials and local representatives.

"As far as I know there aren't any P.M.A. investigators checking farm storages," says John Baker of the Agriculture Department's information office in Chicago. "All of them are working on elevator shortage cases. Any farm investigations pending have been postponed."

Asked how many might be postponed, Mr. Baker replies: "P.M.A. investigators have been instructed by Washington not to talk to anybody but attorneys of the Department of Agriculture and administration heads of P.M.A. about grain conversion cases. So we in the information office don't know any more than you do about conversions."

"Hundreds of Cases"

Grain supposedly held as security for C.C.C. price-prop loans has been vanishing from farms in many parts of the country, in Washington, the Agriculture Department admits there are "hundreds of cases," some of them involving "substantial amounts." How many and how much, officials decline to relate. Though official spokesmen in Washington do not say so, it is learned at least a few of the farm shortage cases have actually been taken to the courts.

Twenty-four shortages involving commercial warehouses, rather than farmers, are now in the courts, and the Agriculture Department has adopted the policy of giving publicity to these as they are filed—reserving the secrecy which prevailed in such litigation before. The Wall Street Journal late last year revealed a wave of such grain losses.

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan has frequently reiterated, since vanishing grain scandals were brought into the open, that it is his department's policy to give full publicity to grain conversion cases.

However, the Agriculture Department still will not state what farm shortage cases have reached the stage of prosecution. Last week, an official of the Agriculture Department solicitor's office in Washington promised to supply The Wall Street Journal with such a list, and though he encountered delays in accumulating the information he repeated this pledge. This week he suddenly declared he could not supply the information at all. His superior had forbidden it.

Policy of Silence

In explaining their reluctance to provide information, officials in Washington emphasize the difficulty of assembling data from regional offices.

In checking regional offices, reporters are told that orders have come from Washington that the lid should be kept on. For instance, the Dallas regional P.M.A. office agrees that on-farm storage shortages are being investigated. But information officers there regret that the number of cases, amounts involved and other pertinent data must be withheld unless clearance is obtained from Washington.

They say it seems Secretary Brannan two or three weeks ago sent down an order no cases could be talked about—even without revealing suspects' names—until they were in court records. This, they quote Mr. Brannan as saying, is to protect innocent people.

Publicized prosecution of farmal for making way with grain on which the Government has a lien is, of course a much tougher thing than prosecution of warehouse operators. In defending his department against the Senate's current inquiry into the scandals of grain that's vanished from commercial warehouses, Mr. Brannan has emphasized at every opportunity that the blame should be placed not on the federal employees supposed to police storage of C.C.C. crops, but on "businessmen." In an election year, it would be more difficult to launch a well-publicized attack on "corrupt farmers."

The Senators Inquire

Some of the farmers who've been caught short may be prominent in their communities. At any rate, Senator Ellender (D., La.) who is directing the Senate Agriculture Committee's probe of grain shortages, has dispatched two investigators to South Dakota to look into reports of a case that "involved a farmer committee-man of the P.M.A. who later made good." Ellender added that "our investigators are checking to see if there was any collusion or wrongdoing by Agriculture Department officials and employees."

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

SAINT PATRICK'S LAND — Today is Saint Patrick's Day and the Irish in America, who are almost more Irish than the Irish in Eire, are having a wonderful time. Actually the Irish are usually having a wonderful time about something or other. The height of their joy is equalled only by the depth of their sorrow and the flights of their fancy concerning the superstition-created leprechauns that spot Ireland's countryside.

Ireland has a long history behind it and a long future in front of it and neither one is bright.

And if the Irish should come hammering on my skull to set my thinking rights, then let me quote from the latest World Book Encyclopedia:

"Most of the people (in Ireland) are very poor. Life for most of the people has changed little in the past two hundred years."

BEAUTY AND CHARM—What it lacks in resources is compensated for by the wealth of Ireland's natural beauty and charm.

Reports the Encyclopedia: "The greenness of its landscape, like the tragedy of its history, is familiar to all the world. Irishmen homesick for Eire have told tales and sung songs, and longing for Eire has become a familiar theme in poetry and verse.

"In the United States, many persons who are not Irish wear the shamrock or a bit of green on Saint Patrick's Day to show their sympathy for Eire and their appreciation for its romantic story."

And the report points out that Ireland has good soil and climate and is capable of producing enough to give its people a "comfortable living."

FACT AND FANCY—Where the charming fancies end and realities begin is difficult for most persons to determine—even those of Irish descent in America.

The number of Irish-Americans who are proud of their old-sod heritage runs into millions. Fact is, there are more people of Irish extraction in the United States today than there are Irish in Ireland.

New York City has the largest Irish population of any city in the world; several English and Scottish cities also have larger Irish populations than any Irish city.

The exodus from Ireland started several centuries ago and continues to this day. It is not that the Irish love of homeland falls but the realities of eating three squares a day makes departure from the homeland a necessity.

Irish men long for the green hills of Kiltarny but they stay in the less charming U. S. even after they reach the retirement age and have accumulated wealth.

OF IRISH ROYALTY—It is part of the pretty fancy for Irish-Americans to trace their ancestry back to Irish "royalty."

My Irish ancestors were distinguished for other reasons. They were "potato kings" but were never so successful as the latter-day potato royalty of Delta county, who manage to make money as well as wear a crown.

Back in the potato famine of the 1840's the Irish "royalty" packed up and came to the United States, where they have been considerably more fortunate than those who stayed at home.

OF A MIXTURE—Irish charm has become world-known through its outstanding writers of prose and poetry. Yet the traditional charm is perpetuated by people who came to Ireland from many lands. Historians say Celtic groups invaded the island, followed by Milesians, Danes, Norwegians, and the English.

And it was about 432 A. D. that Saint Patrick landed in Ireland with his message of Christianity. This ushered in the "Golden Age" of Ireland—a period that ended with the arrival of the invading Danes in the 700's.

Today the Republic of Ireland, a free state, is still better known for Saint Patrick of ancient times than for anything else—and the Irish prefer it that way.

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

SOME MEDICAL

I have just had intimate personal contact with several words that for my part I shall be willing to leave peacefully in the dictionary hereafter. "Gastroscope" (gas-tros-co-pi) and the instrument used therein, "gastroscope" (gas-tro-scope) are two. The soreness has not yet disappeared as I write. The words are derived from Greek "gaster," stomach, and "skopeo," to look at, examine.

The whole affair began suddenly with an upset stomach for no apparent cause. My doctor, fearing gastric ulcer, advised an examination at my convenience by an experienced roentgenologist (rentgun-OL-o-jist), X-ray expert. This was done a few weeks ago, most thoroughly. The results indicated no trace of ulcer, but the expert wanted to leave no stones unturned and advised a "gastroscope" examination (gas-tro-SKOP-ik).

One could not ask for more kindly and thoughtful treatment than I received when I reported for this examination. The doctor explained each step that he was about to take. He said the last stage would be extremely uncomfortable for about ten minutes. It was. Perhaps to a sword-swallower in a circus side-show it would have been tame.

After my mouth and throat had been sprayed with some anodyne (AN-o-dyne), and thus made insensitive to pain, an attendant held my head far back so that my mouth, esophagus, and stomach were in a straight line. The gastroscope was then inserted. It was a hollow metal tube, slightly thicker than a lead pencil, fitted with a tiny electric light, and it thus permitted a direct visual examination of the walls of the stomach.

The discomfort from the strained position of jaws and head, as I lay on my left side, although very unpleasant, was not as great as I had anticipated. I hope I shall not have to undergo it again, however.

The only after-effect, which I still feel, is a sore throat. Incidentally, no serious stomach disorder was found and all the precautions proved to be needless.

What Is It To Be Irish On Saint Patrick's Day?

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK—(P)—What is it to be Irish? On 364 days of the year being Irish isn't visibly different from being Scotch, French, Italian, Serbian, Jewish, Dutch, or—heaven forgive the word—English. The Irishman pays his bills, complains against his taxes, does his work, and listens to his wife like the man of any other race. But on this one day of the year—holy St. Patrick's Day—the Irishman becomes an Irishman. And on this day you have to be Irish to know what it is to be Irish. The outer signs, of course, can be seen by all. The Irishman overnight grows a foot taller and stalks the earth a giant. All traffic lights turn green before him, and if they don't he sees red. But this air of majesty is only taken evidence of interior change. The men of other races who envy the Irishman his bearing on St. Patrick's Day would envy him far more if he could look inside the Irishman's soul. What is it to be Irish? How can you put the wonder of it into words? If a psychiatrist stretched himself out on his own warm couch after his last customer had gone home, and he dreamed of the man he himself would most like to be—well, he might be perfect, but he'd still be only half an Irishman on St. Patrick's Day. What is it to be Irish? It is to have an angel in your mouth, turning your prose to poetry. It is to have the gift of tongues, to know the language of all living things. Does an Irishman pause and turn an ear to a tree? It is because on this day he wants to hear what one sleepy bud says to another as it opens its pale green hands to the warm sun of spring. What is it to be Irish? Oh, on this day it is music. Not just the cornet in the parading high school band, but the deep, deep music of living, the low, sad rhythms of eternity. The Irishman hears the high song of the turning spheres, the dim lullaby of the worm in its cocoon. All the world is in tune, and he is in step with the tune, the tune that only he can hear. What is it to be Irish? It is to live the whole history of his race between a dawn and a dawn—the long wrongs, the bird-swift joys, the endless hurt of his ancestors since the morning of time in a forgotten forest, the knock-at-his-heart that is part of his religion. What is it to be Irish? It isn't only the realization that he is descended from kings. It is the realization that he is a king himself, an empire on two feet triding in power, a strolling continent of awe. What is it to be Irish? Why, on St. Patrick's Day, to be Irish is to know more glory, adventure, magic, victory, exultation, gratitude and gladness than any other man can experience in a lifetime. What is it to be Irish? It is to walk in complete mystic understanding with God for 24 wonderful hours.

Must Wife Dread Meeting Of Father And Ex-Husband

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, Ph. D.

(Q) "I've been divorced for 10 years and have three lovely teenage children. I never remarried, hoping that my husband would come back to me. He comes to see the children twice a week. Several years ago, he married a woman young enough to be his daughter and that hurt the children very much. But, that marriage didn't last long because he couldn't keep up with her fast life. My father doesn't know he comes to see the children. I never told him because of his poor health. Now that he can get around a little, he comes to see me often. I am so afraid my father and my ex-husband will meet. I don't want to hurt either of them as I love them both very much and my children would feel terrible, too. Please advise me about what to do."

This is a case where "honesty is the best policy". Make a clean breast of the whole matter to both your father and your ex-husband. Explain to both of them your reason for not telling your father about your ex-husband's visits to your home to see the children and ask both of them to try to be friendly if and when they meet.

It would be perfectly natural for your father to resent the way your husband behaved when he divorced you and married a younger woman. Any father would resent such behavior and would not want to be civil to the man who mistreated his daughter and his grandchildren.

But, there would be nothing to be gained by your father's showing his resentment and much to be lost. If your father insulted your husband or made things unpleasant for him when he came to see the children, your husband might give up his visits completely. Then your children would be the losers.

Try to make your father understand that your ex-husband loves his children and wants to be with them as any normal father would. Explain to him, also, that as you have never stopped loving your husband or hoping that he would return to you, you are encouraging his visits in the hope that, sometime, the family may be reunited.

Your father could do much to bring this about if he would show your former husband, when they meet, that he is still on good terms with him and that he hopes a reconciliation will take place, for the sake of the children.

If you have a personal problem, write Elizabeth Hurlock in care of this newspaper.

Eggs Are Bargain Food During The Lenten Season

Homemakers are finding eggs a food bargain this Lenten season. Retail prices of eggs are down and likely to stay down because production is getting heavier says Mary Bodwell, food economist for the agricultural economics department at Michigan State College.

Egg prices have dropped since early in December and are much lower than last year. So the increased use of eggs can make a real saving in the food budget.

Valuable Food

Eggs are one of our most valuable foods. They can be used as a meat alternate because the protein is complete—which means it contains all the amino acids necessary for building and repairing body tissues. Eggs also contain valuable minerals, iron and phosphorus, as well as Vitamins A, D, riboflavin and thiamine. Two large eggs give the same amount of protein as an average serving of meat.

Egg dishes are easily and quickly prepared, alone or in combination with other foods. Moderate to low temperatures should be used in cooking eggs. High temperatures and overcooking toughens and shrivels eggs. Use eggs as a thickening agent in puddings and custards and as a leavening agent in baking. They add color, flavor and richness to many different dishes. As salads, garnishes for soups and the coating in breaded meats, eggs can add food value and color to the ordinary meal. As omelets, souffles, baked in potato nests or combined with cheese, they can become the "main dish" of the menu. In baked goods, custards, puddings and pies they make excellent desserts and party refreshments.

Keep Refrigerated

Buy eggs from a refrigerated display at your grocer's. Eggs are very perishable and must be kept cool to retain the quality. They keep better in a covered container so that moisture is not removed from the egg. Keep them refrigerated at home and take out only the eggs to be used.

Look for both the grade and size in figuring how to get the greatest value for your egg money. Grade AA, Grade A or Grade B eggs can all be used for table eggs, but Grade B eggs probably should be used fairly soon. Compare the price of different sizes of eggs of the same grade. Medium size eggs weigh 21 ounces and at 50 cents a dozen would be the same value as large size eggs weighing 24 ounces and costing 57 cents a dozen.

Politicians Go For Weird Hats

BY ROBERT C. RUARK
NEW YORK—Mr. Robin Taft, of the politicking Tafts, has just been observed hiding under a 7½-gallon Texas sombrero as he invades the state of Texas. I trust it will not be considered unduly tasty if I venture the faint hope that there will be a minimum of emphasis on local headgear this season, as the boys range the nation in search of votes.

Nobody knows what deep-laid desire to appear in outlandish haberdashery gnaws at the secret heart of the politico, but sometimes I wonder whether most of them didn't spend their childhood rainy Sundays dressing up in Aunt Hannah's discarded millinery. Show a politician a hat—any old hat—and he must wear it for the cameras or bust.

Mr. Taft, for instance, is undoubtedly a fine man, but he is just not endowed with the face for Texas top-finery. It takes a special phiz to wear one, and not even the humorous Martha Taft could accuse her old man of resembling Gary Cooper. Mr. Taft's face is round and kind of pudgign-y, and would go better in one of Winston Churchill's square-roofed bowlers.

Lowers Man's Dignity
I still shudder when I remember the pained expression of Mr. Silent Cal Coolidge, when somebody forced him into a ten-gallon—or once, heaven help us, into an Indian war bonnet. Nobody but Indians look chic in eagle topknots, and I have seen some Indians who would have appeared more at home in a silk topper than a rooster's tail feathers.

Somehow the dignity of man vanishes when he slaps a low-comedy lid on his skull, even as though you'd suddenly stripped him of his pants. Funny hats have ever been the mark of the burlesque clown, and this ain't the year for comics to go vote-hunting. Mr. Taft would not dream of appearing publicly in one of Martha's old hats, but he wouldn't look any funnier than with a wild-wester squashing his ears. I would as soon see ex-president Hoover flaunting a beret.

Which reminds me that one hopes Mr. Kefauver, full-flushed from his triumphs in New Hampshire, will gradually allow his coonskin beanie to lie fallow for the moths to graze upon. The Dan'l Boone tiara was a real cute idea when Kefe was running against the machine down to Tennessee, and old Boss Crump hung that "pet coon" label on him. But Mr. Kefauver is moving into the majors and needs no dead varmints on his noble brow to sell him to the sticks.

Harry's Clothes
It has long been a favorite suspicion that there is no real need for politicians to dress themselves outlandishly to attract attention as one of the home folks. I have managed a wince every time I see one of the nation's leaders smirking under a Legion cap, and have hid quivering under the sofa from the beach-caps Mr. Truman affects when he is solving the world's ills at Key West. In his gala attire as a beach boy, Harry has always managed to look more like something out of a chorus line than a president.

Yep, I know the constituents like 'em folksy and close to the earth-earthy, but costumery is not the answer. There are many farmers who do not chew straw or wear overalls on Sunday, as there

What In The World?

By L. EARLE DAVIDSON
BERLIN, Germany—Although the 50 American editors with whom I am making this trip through Europe and the Middle East have actually only started the journey which will take us into ten or more countries, we have learned one thing very definitely. Home is a very wonderful word in any language.

Distance rather than time has caused each of us to feel slight pang of homesickness. Today's giant airliners can put a lot of miles between you and your loved ones before you realize what is happening. And although Pan-American World Airways has done much to smooth our travel, the whirling propellers of the "Good Hope," the strato-cruiser which has been assigned to us for our journey, seem to have put a world between us and our homes and friends. Strangely though, we are getting to like the "Good Hope," just as you like to meet a new acquaintance from America when you are thousands of miles away. That is probably because we first saw the "Good Hope" just before we boarded her on American soil. She is our one tangible link with home, and we know that one day before long she will return to us to our own beloved country of the United States.

But our trip will consume only a few weeks. What about those Americans in either military or civilian life who have been over here for months and years? I can many. Although of course I couldn't see him over the telephone, the exhuberance in his voice told me that he was jumping with joy merely because he had an opportunity to talk with an old friend from home. He rushed down to the hotel to see me.

I have known Caesar for something like 30 years, first becoming acquainted with him when he was an officer in a state police post and I was a reporter. He went on to become captain in charge of the uniformed division of the Michigan State Police and retired from active duty about three or four years ago. He has addressed luncheon clubs in practically every city in Michigan.

Scavarda is in Berlin as Director of Public Safety for the Allied Sectors, truly a big job. He has been here a little more than a year and has three more years to go before he can return home. Believe me, there is a man who is REALLY homesick.

Mrs. Scavarda is here with him and has taken a keen interest in welfare work among Berlin children, many of whom became orphaned during the war. But his own children are all back in the States and both the captain and Mrs. Scavarda hate to think that it will be another three years before they get a chance to see them again.

"My work here presents a challenge," Caesar told me, "and I am determined to do a good job. It's the kind of work I know and I believe I can contribute something to the problems we are trying to solve. As far as organized crime is concerned, Mr. Scavarda says there is practically none in Berlin. Greatest problem is with the refugees from East Germany and the satellite nations. An average of 180 a day are coming over the western sectors of Berlin. Because they do not have certificates of citizenship it is difficult for them to obtain jobs. Hence their only means of livelihood is to engage in black market activities.

"In dealing with these refugees we must determine whether they came over for political or economic reasons. If they can prove that they are political refugees and that their lives would be in jeopardy if we sent them back, we try to absorb them into the economy of Western Germany. But if they came merely because they believed they could get a better job or because they felt that, in general, life would be better for them in the free world, unfortunately we must send them back."

"Obviously," said Mr. Scavarda, "if we let down the bars completely, everyone in East Germany would come over, as well as thousands from the satellite nations who might find a way to escape. It would be impossible for Western Germany to absorb them."

Scavarda says that, even under the existing rules, more than 170,000 East Germans have come over since the Berlin blockade. Somehow everyone behind the iron curtain has learned of the tremendous job America did during the Berlin Airlift. They feel, therefore, that Berlin is the gateway to freedom.

The written language of Easter Island has not been interpreted, but has been compared to the hieroglyphics of ancient Egypt and to ancient languages in India.

FULL-TIME POWER STEERING

FIREPOWER V-8 ENGINE

WHAT ARE TODAY'S FACTS ABOUT NEW CAR ENGINES AND POWER STEERING?

LAST YEAR Chrysler introduced its new FirePower V-8 engine, and America's first passenger-car full-time power steering. Both new ideas "took hold" in a big way.

Today, others are announcing "new engines" and "power steering" . . . but with some basic differences worth keeping in mind if you're buying a new car.

First: about "new engines." The fact is, a really new engine design happens only once in a great while. It did happen in the FirePower V-8. Its 180 h.p. was only incidental to its basic new design. Its key idea is a hemispherical combustion chamber, which makes even non-premium gasoline develop more usable power than other designs can get from premium fuel.

Only Chrysler engineering has so far mastered this design. Several cars do have some power increase, in terms of previous designs. The important fact is that FirePower is not a "warmed-over" engine, but brand new in performance, construction, and efficiency.

In power steering, too, there are basic differences.

Chrysler uses hydraulic power, always to effect, to do two things. First, it does 4/5 the steering work as you turn the wheel. Second, we've cut the amount of wheel turn needed by over 1/8.

Parking or cruising, you get more and easier control than ever before. In sand, snow, or ruts, the hydraulic power is always there to keep the front wheels from "steering back" at you. You get the same amount and feel of control all the time . . . full-time ease and full-time safety.

Actually, the differences, both in engine performance and in steering safety and ease are impossible to put in words . . . but just as impossible not to feel the moment you get into a Chrysler and drive it! Why not see your Chrysler dealer and do that, soon!

Truck Deal Tension Eased As Dealers And Commissioners Meet

Tension between Schoolcraft County road commissioners and Manistique auto dealers over the recent purchase of five trucks and four dump boxes by the county from a Marquette dealer was eased as a result of a joint meeting of the Road Commission, the county road committee of the Board of Supervisors, and local car dealers Friday night.

During the meeting, which followed a regular session of the road board, full details of the truck transaction were disclosed to supervisors and car dealers. William W. Davidson, of Doyle township, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, presided at the joint meeting.

Following presentation by Eugene Johnson, county engineer, of the Road Commission's method of tabulating bids and various factors which led to acceptance of the Marquette firm's quotation, supervisors recommended that the board consider adopting a policy of purchasing equipment needs in Schoolcraft County whenever possible.

Tabulation Sheet Shown
Auto dealers also suggested that the board request bids in the future on the specific weight and size of equipment desired instead of on a minimum specification basis.

The county engineer, spokesman for the road commissioners, exhibited tabulation sheets used in comparing features of various trucks on which bids were submitted and also explained that individual bids were open to public inspection.

Bidders, he said, were present at the meeting when the truck bids were opened and also attended an adjourned session when the bid of the Marquette firm was accepted for five trucks and four dump boxes.

Unsuccessful bidders, he pointed out, should have requested an immediate explanation of the board's action rather than waiting a week before presenting their grievances to the public through a newspaper article.

Technical features of various trucks offered, including horsepower, weight, torque, and other mechanical considerations, were described by Johnson. He pointed out that the state rental payment on the trucks purchased amounted to $1.65 an hour compared to $1.17 on some local trucks quoted at a lower price.

Renals A Factor
The highest rental payment available on a local truck, he said, amounted to $1.44 an hour. When all other factors are considered, including price, he pointed out, the amount of rental the state allows for truck use also must be taken into consideration.

In response to questions by supervisors and dealers, Johnson reported that parts for the trucks were available in Marquette at a 20 per cent discount to the Road Commission. He had been advised, he said, that the Marquette firm carried an ample supply of parts and said that he was making a further investigation to verify this information.

Both dealers and supervisors emphasized their contention that Schoolcraft County dealers, who pay wages and taxes here, should be given primary consideration in county purchases of equipment. Dealers pointed out that some Upper Peninsula counties follow such a policy.

Accept Shovel Bids
The session was conducted in a spirit of harmony, the Road Commission reiterating that in making the truck purchase it was acting for what it considered the best interest of Schoolcraft County.

Prior to the joint session the road board accepted bids on a new shovel.

County road committee members attending the meeting besides Davidson, ex officio member, were William Rodman, Manistique township; Francis Morrison, Seney township; Allan Macaulay, Germfask township; William Popour, Inwood township; and Agner Delhin, Hiawatha township.

Dealers present were Alex Creighton, Walter Linderth, Leo Curran, Ernest G. Carlstrom, Jack Williams, Herman Swanson and George Ekstrom.

Road commissioners are Harold McNamara, Manistique, chairman; Henry Orschel, Inwood township and Orley Losey, Germfask township.

Banquet And Shoot Slated

A pistol shoot and banquet are scheduled at the National Guard armory tomorrow afternoon by the Manistique Rifle and Pistol club, it is announced by Arthur Hough, president.

Pistol competition among club members is slated to start early in the afternoon, to be followed by a banquet at 6 p. m. Twenty-two and 38 caliber pistols will be used at a range of 25 yards.

The banquet committee is composed of Donald McNally, chairman; Oscar Linden, Floyd Houghton, James Sangraw, Harold Snyder and Harold Bradley.

Hough also announced that another inter-city pistol event is scheduled for April.

In practice shooting last Wednesday, Hough said, the three high scorers were Sgt. N. H. Modders with 296 and 288, Russell Johnson with 287 and 278, and Floyd Houghton with 268. Eighteen members participated.

Modders scored 100 in slow fire, 98 in time fire and 98 in rapid fire to achieve his score with a 22 pistol. Johnson, using a 38 caliber, fired a 100 in slow fire, 97 in time fire and 90 in rapid fire. Modders also scored a second perfect 100 in slow fire.

Another practice shoot is scheduled for Wednesday evening. Lunch and refreshments will follow.

Plywood Plant To Pick Union

Sometime in the near future employees of the Northwestern Plywood and Veneer Corporation will have an election to determine which of three organizations or unions shall represent them.

Since the establishment of the plywood plant here the employees have been represented by the Chamber of Labor of North America.

Recently organizers for the CIO and also the American Federation of Labor have addressed meetings of the plywood plant employees to outline the programs of their respective organizations and the International Woodworkers of America, CIO, petitioned the National Labor Board to conduct an election to determine representation.

Last Wednesday, March 12, the labor board held a preliminary hearing at which time it was decided that the election to determine representation would be held within two weeks of that date.

Over the weekend organizers for both the CIO and the AFL met with employees. Here for the CIO were Edward Lambert, international representative, and Fred Brown, president of the Newberry CIO, while here for the AFL were Howard Bennett, Port Washington, Wis., general representative of the Carpenters International, and Leon J. Compensation Rates To Save Michigan Employers $2,900,000

LANSING — (AP)—A new schedule of workmen's compensation rates effective April 1 will save insuring employers in Michigan approximately $2,900,000 this year, state insurance commissioner Joseph A. Navarre announced.

The new schedule will provide for an overall rate reduction, Navarre said.

Of the 745 classifications in the rate manual, 511 will show a decrease of 10 per cent, Navarre said. In a group of 234 additional classifications, 168 will be reduced from 20 to 40 per cent, 40 will remain unchanged and 20 will be increased.

Navarre said he based his estimate of a saving of $2,900,000 on the estimated premium value for workmen's compensation in 1951 of approximately $35,000,000.

Navarre said the present rate reduction is attributable to the prevailing higher wage scale in industry, larger payrolls and the resulting decrease in absences on the part of workers when disabilities are not serious.

Is Arrested On Serious Charge

Arraigned before Justice of Peace A. T. Sohlberg late Saturday afternoon on a charge of taking indecent liberties with a minor, John Nault, 23, Negaunee, waived examination and was bound over to circuit court to stand trial.

Bond was set at $2,000 and Nault was remanded to the county jail when he was unable to furnish it.

Nault, using the alias of Johnson, is alleged to have attempted to obtain a room for himself and two 13-year-old Gladstone youths who accompanied him, at a local rooming house but was turned down when the person in charge recognized one of the boys. He is said to have then gone to another rooming house to try and obtain quarters.

Authorities and the father of one of the boys was notified and a search started but the man could not be located.

A John Doe warrant was obtained by Chief of Police Torval Kallerson and Nault was arrested at Negaunee and returned to Gladstone by Michigan State Police.

His arraignment followed.

Hockey definitely runs in the Olson family . . . Newest star to hit the big time in ice circles is Weldon Olson, 19, right wing on Michigan State College's puck sextet . . . Weldon is one of nine brothers from Marquette who have played, or are playing, hockey . . . Weldon was the second high scorer on the Spartan team this season.

Olson went to Michigan State on the advice of Amo Bessone, former University of Illinois star and later coach at Michigan Tech in Houghton . . . The young Olson lived up to expectations by becoming a regular in this, his freshman, season . . . High spots of his play this year were his four goals in one game against the University of Minnesota and his "hat trick"—three goals—against Michigan Tech.

It wasn't a surprise to anyone that Weldon made the Spartan varsity . . . Escanaba hockey fans know the caliber of Olson hockey from watching two of the older Olson brothers in action with the Escanaba Hawks . . . Mark, Hawk center and coach, and Ted, wingman on the first line, form the nucleus of the Escanaba entry in the Northern Michigan league . . . But there's a lot more hockey in the family.

There are nine sons in all, and everyone of them has left his mark in hockey hereabouts . . . Top star of them all is Eddie . . . He's the high scoring star of the Cleveland Barons of the American League who recently scored his 100th goal for his sextet . . . Eddie is a practice pitcher for the St. Louis Cardinals during the off season.

This season there were five of the brothers active in the Northern Michigan league . . . Wesley "Wackey" Olson is manager of the Marquette Sentinels who are currently involved with the Portage Lakes Pioneers in the championship playoff series . . . Marquette stars are Gordon and Roy . . . Clarence Matt, husband of a sister, also plays for the Sentinels of Marquette as a defenseman . . . Allan, the oldest Olson brother, is an executive with the Dow Chemical company, and was a former hockey ace at Michigan Tech . . . Paul, now living at Vassar, played amateur hockey at Marquette in his younger days.

76-58 for the U. P. Class D basketball crown.

Coach Don Ghiardi's Model Towners came out with a close press in the third period and outscored Coach George Barron's Mass quint 23-17. Gwinn also had an 18-15 edge in the fourth quarter but it wasn't nearly enough.

Garlow Standout

Houghton Nips Trojans 60-55 For U. P. Class C Cage Championship

Kutches Sets New Individual Scoring Record Of 588 Points

NEGAUNEE — St. Joe's bid for the Upper Peninsula Class C basketball championship was foiled in the closing minutes of the title game here Saturday night when Houghton guard Gary Arvo tossed in three field goals to give the Gremlins of Coach John Gaffney a 60-55 edge before a packed crowd of 3,800 fans.

Coach Tom St. Germain's Trojans, in the U. P. championship fray for the second straight year, fell after a courageous battle from a 21-11 deficit at the end of the first period.

New Scoring Champ

Although they lost the championship, the Trojans crowned a new scoring champ Saturday night. Pete Kutches, the incomparable Trojan center, waged a terrific losing fight for the Trojans by rattling 33 points through the hoop.

Kutches finished his high school career with 588 points this season, a new individual scoring record in the Upper Peninsula. He averaged 29.4 points in 20 games to also post the best average above the Straits. His four-year total with the St. Joe varsity is a staggering 1,171 points in 69 games for a 16.97 average per game.

St. Joe ran into a quartet of tall and rugged performers on the Houghton team and found the Gremlins almost impenetrable on defense. Kutches was practically the only Trojan able to hit from the field as the rest of the St. Joe cagers combined scored only five field goals. Kutches hit 14 from the field and five from the free throw line.

Lead At Half

Houghton saw its first period lead eaten up in the second frame in which St. Joe crept ahead to lead 32-30 at halftime. But in the third quarter forward Rueben Kananen found the range for a pair of quick baskets and a free throw to put Houghton ahead 35-33. St. Joe tied it up once more in the third but entered the final quarter trailing 44-41.

A field goal and a free throw by guard John Martinac tied the score 44-44 early in the fourth. The lead changed hands three times to the halfway mark in the period, when Jim Gravelle of St. Joe and Russell Richards of Houghton fouled out of the game.

At 1:50 the Trojans had a one-point lead as the result of three straight field goals scored by Kutches. Dick Cass fouled out for the Trojans and was replaced by Bill Maycunich. A field goal by Spencer Carlson gave Houghton a 55-54 lead at 1:45.

Arvo Turns Tide

Arvo tipped in a missed free throw at 1:30 and then fed another layup through the net to hand Houghton a 58-54 lead. Bob Sendenburgh's gift toss with 30 seconds remaining cut the margin to 58-55 but Arvo broke under the basket seconds later and clinched the win with another layup.

Houghton scoring was well divided with Kananen hitting 17, Carlson 16, Arvo 14, and Richards 13. St. Joe's Martinac had an even dozen.

The new U. P. champs continue their quest for state honors Wednesday night at Gaylord in a 7:30 clash with Charlevoix.

College Hockey Title To Wolves

COLORADO SPRINGS —(P)—Michigan's Wolverines still are the nation's No. 1 collegiate hockey team.

They retained their NCAA crown here Saturday night with a 4-to-1 victory over Colorado College in the finals of the NCAA tournament. Yale and St. Lawrence represented the East.

Michigan walloped St. Lawrence in the opener, 9-3, while Colorado disposed of Yale.

In the final, Michigan piled up three goals in the first period and then withstood a furious CC attack in the closing stanza. It was the third time they had met this season and each previously had won one.

Doug Philpott, with an unassisted goal and an assist, led the Michigan attack. George Chin, Capt. Earl Keyes and Graham Cragg got other Michigan goals.

The Wolverines placed four men on the Associated Press NCAA tournament all-star team, and Colorado two. Michiganders making it: Jim Haas, defense; Doug Philpott, center, and George Chin and John McKennell, wings.

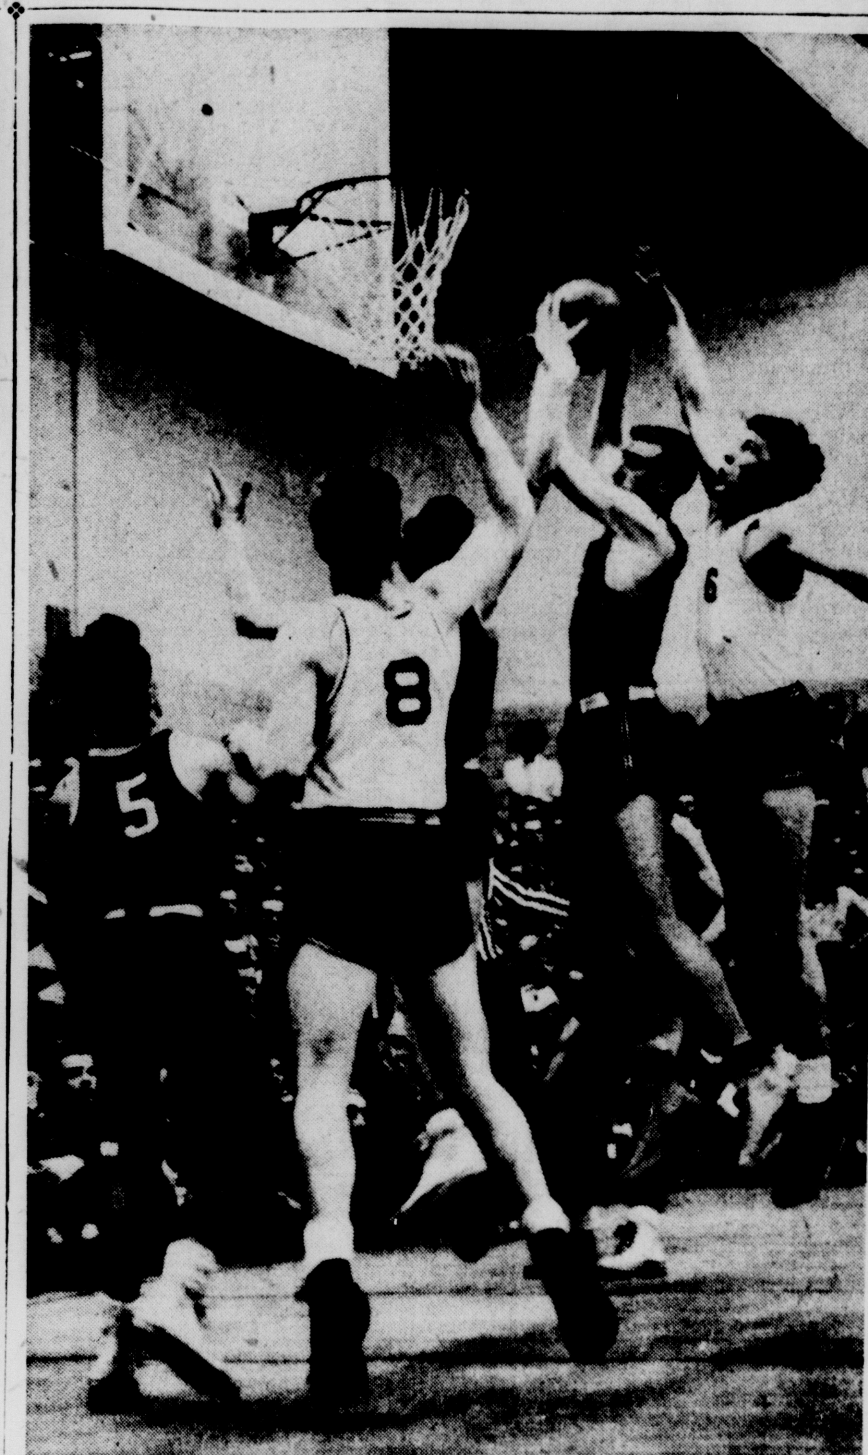

Big Ten Becomes Closed Corporation With Cage Schedule

CHICAGO —(P)—The Big Ten has become virtually a closed corporation in basketball with the adoption of an 18 game conference schedule for next season with only four non-league contests permitted.

The new slate, mapped yesterday by Big Ten coaches and approved by the athletic directors, sends every conference team against every other member twice, on a home-and-home basis.

Kuchenberg Benefit Game Is Set For Tuesday Night

Independent basketball returns to the Escanaba scene Tuesday night with a benefit cage game for Mickey Kuchenberg, Escanaba Harnischteger player hurt in a recent game at Oconto Falls, Wis.

The Harnies take on Ghiardi's Grocers of Negaunee at 8:30 at the Junior High School. A preliminary starts at 7:15.

Ghiardi's finished second in the Negaunee city league play with 14 wins against two losses this season. The team was tied with the Negaunee Eagles at the end of the regular season and lost 46-41 in a playoff.

Only other loss in regular play was to Fred's Bar, third place team, by four points.

Ghiardi Stars

Ghiardi's is led by Louis Dreon, Negaunee Golden Glover who has fought here for the past two years. Dreon is the leading scorer in the Negaunee league.

Other stars are Ed Waishky, Brimley High School star last year; David Dompierre, dead-eye forward; Paul Jacka, tall rebounder and tip-in artist, and Bob Helgren of last year's Negaunee High School quint.

The Harnies will feature their regular lineup which will include Kuchenberg, Tom St. Germain, Tom and Bob Dufour, Warren Fisher, Ed Gauthier, and Don Lewis. All proceeds will be given to Kuchenberg who missed work for several days because of the injury at Oconto Falls.

New Babe Wins Golf Tournament

AUGUSTA, Ga.—(P)—Babe Zaharias, left Augusta today headed for her Tampa, Fla., home with an extra $1,050 but with less enthusiastic fans and friends.

During the women's titleholder's tournament the Babe played her usual superlative golf. She led each of the four days and won with a 72-hole score of 299—seven strokes better than Betsy Rawls of Austin, Tex.

She was the usual Babe Didrikson Zaharias—greatest woman player of the century. But in her relations to the gallery she was a far different Babe.

Before the tournament opened Thursday the Babe was part clown and all golf queen. She used to kick her heels after a good shot and yodel and put on a show which every gallery cheered and every gallanter liked.

New Babe
This week she was subdued and a little grim. She was a new Babe Zaharias.

After her excellent 74 Thursday on the par 36-72 Augusta Country Club course The Babe said she felt fine but "for one of the few times in my life I've had to get off the stage and quit acting—quit cuttin' up."

"I'm having to work harder to win these days than I used to and I'm having to use rainy golf. I'd rather cut up but I can't afford to."

At the presentation of prizes and checks she turned on the usual Zaharias comedy. After the presentation she said she was going to Tampa for practice before the New Orleans Open next week.

Before the final round in the wind and chill on the 6,619-yard course the Babe needed a 77 or less to break her titleholder record of 298 set in 1950. After taking a murderous seven on the seventh hole—results of hacking out of two sand traps—her record breaking foray was over.

She brought in a fair 79 for a one-above the record score.

24 Years in National League
NEW YORK—(NEA)—Q. What was the largest salary Honus Wagner ever received as a major league ball player?

A. Pittsburgh paid him $35 a month in 1900 and, while the Flying Dutchman was the best paid performer of his time, the most he ever got was $10,000 a year.

Q. Is Grove Cleveland Alexander the only 20th century big league pitcher able to bag 30 or more wins three years in succession?

A. No. Christy Matheson reached the 30s in 1903-04-05, won 37 in 1908, when he walked only 42 in 416 innings.

Q. Has there ever been a case of a ball player being killed in a major league game?

A. Yes. Ray Chapman, Cleveland shortstop, was hit on the head by Carl Mays, the submarine pitcher of the Yankees, at the Polo Grounds, Aug. 16, 1920, died later in the hospital. A tragic quirk of fate was that Chapman, veteran of 11 seasons, had been planning to retire the following year from baseball.

Nahma Wins Class E Crown With 64-44 Victory Over Marenisco, 21st Straight

CRYSTAL FALLS—(Special)—The Nahma Arrows completed their first undefeated season in history here Saturday night by piercing Marenisco 64-44 for the U. P. and state Class E basketball championship.

Coach Harold "Babe" Anderson's Nahma quint was the only cage team above the Straits to post an undefeated 1951-52 season. It was the first in the 21-year history of basketball at Nahma, and it was the first Class E championship for the school. Coach Anderson has been at the Nahma helm for five seasons.

In racking up their 21st victory in the championship tilt, the Arrows had no trouble after taking a 17-10 lead in the first period. The Arrows outscored Marenisco in each frame, stretching the lead to 30-16 at halftime and 54-35 at the three-quarter mark.

Nahma Starters
With a comfortable lead in the final period, Coach Anderson sent in his young reserves, mostly freshmen, to finish out the game. Starters were Paul Thibault, Lawrence Seymour, Wendell Roddy, Cornelius Sochay and John Gereau.

Roddy and Thibault set the Nahma pace with 18 points apiece on the scoreboard. High point honors, however, went to Marenisco's center, Prosser, who tallied 21.

Nahma displayed none of the tournament jitters that marked the semifinal game Friday night, in which the Arrows barely edged National Mine 52-51.

End Of Trail
"We played the kind of game we're capable of and all the boys looked very good," happy Coach Anderson exclaimed following the game.

The Nahma quintet ran up 17 straight wins in regular season play and capped the record with a pair of tournament wins in district play at Rapid River. The two regional wins made it 21 straight.

This is the end of the trail for Nahma. The Upper Peninsula Class E champion is also the state titleholder as there are no Class E schools downstate.

Tigers Eye Rookies With Pruning Shears

LAKELAND, Fla.—(P)—Manager Red Rolfe and newly-arrived general manager Charley Gehringer sharpened their pruning shears today.

It's time to scissor out some of the Detroit Tiger rookies and ship them to farm clubs.

Rolfe and Gehringer will find the trimming task easy. There's not a single standout rookie ready for major league stardom at this moment.

Of course such lads as infielder-outfielder John Phillips, outfielder Russ Sullivan and pitcher Billy Hoelt and Lynn Lovenguth show future promise.

Vets Look Okay
They could sparkle and gain regular berths in the four weeks and one day that remain before the season opens.

You can count on Rolfe keeping all his veterans, barring injuries—especially his veteran pitchers who look great.

Yesterday veteran left-handers Hal Newhouse and Ted Gray showed easy pitching motions and earned the praise of teammates in the Tigers' 6-4 defeat administered by the Washington Senators at Orlando.

Newhouse pitched like the Newhouse of old—the fellow who could be counted on for 18 or 20 victories. He gave up all the runs and nine of the 10 hits in his five innings but errors, poor fielding, and fluke hits hurt him. All the team agreed Newhouse looked great.

Even better was Gray, who usually suffers through a bad spring but this year is pushing Virgil Trucks as the most-progressed of the pitchers.

The Rookies
Gray throwing overhand, gave up one hit in three innings, struck out two and walked only one.

As for the rookies, they fall into two classes:

1—Most likely bets to stick, Phillips, shortstop Alex Garbowski, first baseman Ben Taylor, and pitchers Wayne McLeland, Dick Littlefield, Lovenguth and Hoelt.

2—Not likely to stick—second baseman Al Federoff, first baseman Ralph Atkins, outfielder George Lerchen, pitcher Dick Marlowe, Ernie Funk, Paul Foytack, Al Yalilian, and catcher Les Pinkham.

Kiner Gets Contract For $75,000, Third Highest In Baseball

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif.—(P)—Ralph Kiner, the Pittsburgh Pirate home run slugger, has reason to smile this St. Patrick's day—he's negotiated a new one-year contract for $75,000—making him the third highest paid player in the majors.

Only Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals and Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox have better contracts than the Buc slugger who has been writing records since breaking into the majors in 1946.

Musial is reported to be receiving $80,000 this season while Williams has signed for an estimated $100,000. There's considerable doubt whether Williams will collect.

Regional Cage Winners In Quarterfinal Play

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

By JOHN F. MAYHEW

Four teams, carry the fabulous combined record of 105 games without defeat into the quarterfinal round of the upset-ridden state high school basketball tournament Wednesday.

The fabulous four, headed by Detroit St. Andrew with an unheard-of 45-game winning streak, were among the favorites in the 32-team field that will ultimately provide a new champion in every class.

The closest to St. Andrew is Class D Vermontville, with 23 victories in a row, closely followed by Class C St. Louis, a winner of 21 games this season, and Class A Highland Park, with 16 consecutive victories.

But the possession of such charmed lives has no indication of further success.

Tough Field
For all face as tough a quarterfinal field as has come up through the two weeks of district and regional play in years.

Out for the A title are such rugged contenders as Saginaw Arthur Hill, Holland, and Ann Arbor while the Class B crown is the coveted aim of candidates like Niles, Grand Rapids Godwin, Ishpeming and Grand Blanc.

Bumping elbows with St. Louis for the Class C title, abdicated by Detroit St. Andrew, are such strong teams as Berrien Springs, Algonac and Holt while Fowler, Copemish, Mass and Bridgman are top contenders for the D title.

And of the four charmed teams, only Detroit St. Andrew appeared a strong favorite over its quarterfinal opponent—Roseville. Class A Highland Park faces East Detroit,

St. Louis will meet a stout Class C aspirant, Holt, and Vermontville will have to play tourney-wise Bridgman.

String Ended

Class C Berrien Springs ended Vicksburg's unbeaten string of 20 games with a 36-35 decision and Otterville downed Saginaw St. Andrew 38-35, despite the 23-point performance of St. Andrew center Tom Tassin. Holt moved out from a 23-23 halftime deadlock to defeat West Michigan Christian and Algonac nosed out Detroit St. Gregory on a basket by Joe McKoon in the last 20 seconds.

Doug Steward contributed 19 points as his Vermontville quintet dumped Saugatuck 56-46. Tim Greene made 27 points in a losing cause. Another high-point man was Mickey Finnan, with 27 markers, as his Copemish Class D team downed Kingsley 61-39.

Detroit Lions Will Open Against Eagles In Exhibition Game

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—(P)—The Detroit Lions will try out their strength for the 1952 National Football League campaign by taking on the Philadelphia Eagles in an exhibition game here Aug. 23.

The game in the War Memorial Stadium, traditionally the curtain raiser for football here, was announced Saturday by stadium manager Allan Berry.

Detroit and Philadelphia also clashed here in the season opener last year.

Mass ended Gwinn's 21-game victory streak with a 76-58 win as Mass guard Barry Garlow made 30 points.

Best Performance

The best performance was Pete Kutches' 33 points as his Escanaba St. Joseph Class C club was trimmed by Houghton 60-55. It gave Kutches a season total of 588 points and an all-time Upper Peninsula scoring record.

Fowler, the class favorite, wall-poled Baldwin 77-49 aided by Evert Sillman's 23 points. Bridgman fought down to the wire to edge Stevensville 50-47.

The 32 survivors will battle Wednesday for 16 semi-final berths in games set for Friday at East Lansing. The championship round is scheduled at Michigan State College Saturday night.

The quarter-final pairings:

CLASS A

Lansing Sexton vs. Saginaw Arthur Hill.
East Detroit vs. Highland Park.
Detroit Catholic Central vs. Ann Arbor.

Holland vs. Muskegon.

CLASS B

Niles vs. East Lansing.
Detroit St. Andrew vs. Roseville.
Grand Blanc vs. Grand Rapids Godwin.

Alpena Catholic Central vs. Ishpeming.

CLASS C

Berrien Springs vs. Wyandotte Mt. Carmel.
Algonac vs. Otterville.
Holt vs. St. Louis.

Charlevoix vs. Houghton.

CLASS D

Queen Of American Speed Skaters Got Her Start On Escanaba Rinks

NORWAY—Thirteen years ago at Escanaba, an eight-year-old Norway, Mich., girl who was making her debut in competitive speed-skating races, won her first trophy as the Upper Peninsula cradle class champion. That was the beginning.

Today, the same girl, Barbara Marchetti, queen of American women speed skaters, has enough trophies and medals to open up a hardware store.

Barbara says that she owes much of her success to the encouragement given her by John and Gene Hebert and Peter Dubé, Escanaba skaters, and the Jerry Lynch club, of Detroit, for which she now skates.

Twenty-one-year-old Barbara, employed in Detroit, visited her home town over the week-end and was a spectator at the Pine Mountain ski tournaments. Norway residents, naturally proud over their internationally-famous daughter, collected all her trophies and medals for an impressive display at the Peterson Electric company store.

37 Trophies, 107 Medals

The display tells the complete story of Barbara's brilliant skating career. It's a medal-by-medal and trophy-by-trophy account from her first victory at Escanaba to the grand slam of major United States and North American championships this season.

In 13 years, Queen Barbara has won 37 trophies ranging from four-inch cups to elaborate awards 30 inches high. The assorted collection includes clock trophies and gold and silver skate blades. In addition, she has an assortment of 107 silver, gold and bronze medals. It adds up to 144 awards in 13 years.

Her grand slam in the major events this year is unparalleled in American women's senior division speed skating history. She won the 1952 United States indoor and outdoor titles as well as the North American indoor crown. She also shares the North American outdoor championship with Miss Doreen McLeod, of Edmonton, Alberta, Canada.

Three World's Records

In the 1950 St. Louis Southwest Indoor meet she brought Michigan its first title since 1930. She was the youngest woman ever to win the U. S. Women's indoor skating crown.

She holds three world's records. The marks, all indoors, are: half mile, 1:32.7; three-quarter mile, 2:25.9 and the mile, 3:11.5.

An official from the Missouri Skating Association, described the Norway girl as "the best American woman skater since the days of Kit Kline," who gained fame out of Buffalo, N. Y., nearly 15 years ago.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Florenz Marchetti, Barbara put on her first skates at the age of four. At the age of eight, skating talent possessed by the youngster was recognized by August Menghini, Norway enthusiast. Through the efforts of Menghini and the Youth Guidance Council, Barbara entered and won her first races and was urged to take the sport seriously.

Had To Be Prodded

But it wasn't that easy. Her parents, who never doubted the ability of their daughter to reach the "big league," had to keep after Barbara. She always wasn't willing to go through the daily practice routine. Like most youngsters, she had to be pushed, prodded and sometimes threatened.

Until 12 years of age, Barbara also was interested in fancy skating and cut the capers quite well.

At that time, her parents said she had to make up her mind; that she would have to pick one or the other because she could not concentrate on both. Obviously, she made the right choice.

In 1947, following her graduation from Norway high school, Barbara left for Detroit, where she since has been employed. Her debut at Detroit was in the Times Derby and officials voted her as the most promising skater in the event.

Skyrocket To Fame

Her skyrocket to national fame was meteoric and since the first appearance at Detroit she has won more races and titles than she can remember.

When not skating, Barbara is a receptionist at the Evangelical Deaconess hospital in Detroit.

And she doesn't forget skating during the off season. In the summer she keeps herself in trim with daily workouts on racing bikes. It keeps the muscles in her skating legs from softening.

And so goes the story of Barbara Marchetti, the speed skating queen of North America and Norway's most famous gift to the sports world.

Communist Line Raked By Jets

By GEORGE A. MCARTHUR
SEOUL, Korea.—(AP)—American Shooting Star jets sprayed front-line Communist troops and artillery positions with rockets, bombs and bullets today.

Pilots reported killing more than 75 Red soldiers, destroying 15 guns and 28 troop bunkers and damaging a tank.

Swift F-86 Sabre jets flying cover for the Shooting Stars exchanged shots with 12 Communist Mig-15 jets, but reported no hits. Sunday Sabres destroyed three Migs, probably shot down two and damaged eight in the first air battle in four days.

Communist shore guns hit the superstructure of the battleship Wisconsin, flagship of the U. S. Seventh Fleet, off Korea's east coast Sunday. Three sailors were slightly injured. Damage was described as superficial.

The Shooting Star jets concentrated on Communist positions along the eastern and central fronts.

Other Fifth Air Force planes pounded North Korean supply lines, cutting Red rail lines at 86 points, destroying 28 supply buildings and knocking out a railroad bridge. Air Force headquarters said.

Wall Street

By RICHARD FISKE
NEW YORK.—(AP)—The stock market leaned a little to the upside today but activity dwindled rapidly after a brisk opening.

Prices were pretty much a mixture of gains and losses with the advances holding a slight margin.

There was very little enthusiasm to the trading and the market slowed down to a very quiet pace shortly after the opening.

Traders were cautious and kept a weather eye on the steel labor dispute.

Among the steel stocks, U. S. Steel, and Bethlehem were fractions ahead and Youngstown was down a fraction.

The advances included General Motors, Chrysler, Consolidated Natural Gas, American Cyanamid, Westinghouse, American Tobacco, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Standard Oil (NJ), Texas Co., and Gulf Oil.

Among the declines were Goodyear, U. S. Rubber, Admiral Corp., American Telephone, Anaconda, McIntyre, Northern Pacific and United Air Lines.

The bond market was mixed and very quiet. There was little activity in U. S. governments.

Donner Pass, one of the lower crossings of the Sierra Nevada, is at an altitude of 7,189 feet.

CANDIDATE — Jacob Bink of 1019 First Ave. N. today is a candidate for Escanaba city council, full term of four years, with nominating petitions filed at the office of city clerk.

Four candidates previously announced their intention but Bink is the first to file nominating petitions. The deadline for filing by candidates is 5 p. m. tomorrow.

Born in Escanaba and a lifelong resident of the community, Bink is a co-partner in the Coca Cola Bottling Company of Escanaba and is active in civic affairs. He is a veteran of World War I and is 55 years old.

At the city election to be held April 7 the voters will pick four city councilmen, three to serve full terms of four years and one to complete a two-year unexpired term of the late Peter N. Logan.

office, said none of the four officers tried to stop the move.

After a joint conference Conway said his group had begun working with the four individually, "transferring responsibilities and functions."

The six-member administrative board was instructed to take over the Ford Local by the UAW executive board after witnesses testified before the House Un-American Activities committee here that Communists had infiltrated the ranks of officers and dominated actions by the local's general council.

The five fired officers, none above the unit level, were named by witnesses before the House group as Communists.

Walter P. Reuther, International President of the UAW, was named chairman of the administrative board.

Lansing Store Block Has $250,000 Blaze; Much Stock Damaged

LANSING.—(AP)—A four-alarm fire in a downtown store block damaged four stores and resulted in a loss unofficially estimated at $250,000 early Sunday.

Cause of the blaze was still undetermined today.

The fire, discovered by a patrolling policeman, started in a partition between a Neisner and Co., variety store and a branch store of the Reel Shoe Co. In the 200 block of South Washington Avenue.

The fire was brought under control some four hours later.

Most of the damage was to the Neisner and Reel stores where 100 per cent of the stock, managers said, was damaged either by fire, smoke or water.

Smoke damage was suffered by a store of the S. S. Kresge Co., and the Vicki Dress Co., both to the south of the shoe store.
